A WALK IN WINDSOR PARK 2015

On Sunday 24/05/15 the annual breed walk was held in Windsor Great Park, the weather was kind with a sunny cool day just right for the dogs. The event was again very well supported with members and their dogs from far and wide. There was approximately 55 Irish Terriers attending, it was impossible to get an exact number as they kept moving around. We all met at the Rangers Gate and walked to the Copper Horse Statue for a group picture, where the picture below (showing some of the dogs) was taken. Then some did the long walk, whilst others did the short walk back to the Post Office Store, where we all met up for refreshments. It was great to see so many Irish Terriers all together and getting on well. The walk will be run again next year. Please can we have feedback from the members attending, is there anything we can do to make this an even better event?

WHY YOU SHOULD NOT GIVE YOUR DOG CHOCOLATE

Why chocolate is bad for your dog

Chocolate contains a stimulant called theobromine (a bit like caffeine) that is poisonous to dogs. The amount of theobromine differs in the different types of chocolate (dark chocolate has the most in it).

What does theobromine do and what symptoms will I see?

Theobromine mainly affects the heart, central nervous system and kidneys. Symptoms will occur from 4-24 hours after your dog s eaten the chocolate and will vary depending on the amount of theobromine your dog has eaten.

If your dog has eaten chocolate, you may see:

- Vomiting (may include blood)
- Diarrhoea
- Restlessness and hyperactivity
- Rapid breathing
- Muscle tension, incoordination
- Increased heart rate
- Seizures

How much chocolate is too much for your dog?

The advice is not to give any chocolate to your dog, but if they have managed to get hold of some chocolate these are some guidelines you need to be aware of.

Theobromine doses in the region of 100-150 mg/kg bodyweight are toxic to dogs.

Approximate amount of theobromine in 25 grams of chocolate.

- White chocolate contains minimal amounts of theobromine.
- Milk chocolate contains 44-64mg theobromine.
- Semi-sweet chocolate and sweet dark chocolate contains 150-160mg theobromine.

- Unsweetened (baking) chocolate 390-450mg theobromine.
- Dry cocoa powder 800mg theobromine.

This means that for a Labrador (around 30kg bodyweight) we would expect to see a fatal toxic reaction if they had eaten of 1 kg of milk chocolate, ½ kg dark chocolate or 170 grams of baking chocolate.

Signs of poisoning will be seen at lower levels of ingestion. For example, a 30kg dog that has eaten 200g of milk chocolate is likely to have a digestive upset (vomiting and diarrhoea). If they had eaten 500g of milk chocolate, it is likely that cardiovascular problems will be seen (increased heart rate) and if they had eaten 750g of milk chocolate they may develop seizures.

It can be hard to tell exactly how much your dog may have eaten and the amount of caffeine and theobromine in chocolate will vary due to growing conditions, cocoa bean sources and variety. It's always best to err on the side of caution and contact your vet for advice if you are at all concerned.

What should I do if my dog has eaten chocolate?

Treatment may be needed if your dog eats any chocolate so please contact your vet as soon as possible. It will assist your vet if you can tell them how much chocolate your dog has eaten, what type of chocolate it was (wrappers can be very helpful) and when your dog ate the chocolate. This will enable them to work out whether your dog has eaten a toxic dose or not and what treatment your dog likely to need.

Treatment

There is no antidote to theobromine. In most cases your vet will make your dog vomit. They may wash out the stomach and feed activated charcoal which will absorb any theobromine left in the intestine. Other treatments will depend on the signs your dog is showing. They may need intravenous fluids (a drip), medication to control heart rate, blood pressure and seizure activity.

With prompt intervention and treatment even in dogs that have eaten large amounts of chocolate the prognosis for poisoned dog is usually good.
